1990 Highlander of the Year

The 1990 Highlander of the Year, Val Lougheed, accepts her award from presenter Bill Payne Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce annual meeting. Lougheed was chosen for the honour because of her work over the past six years in organizing the Minden Martin Techni-cal Challenge Sled Dog Derby.

Chamber honours Lougheed as the driving force behind Minden's Sled Dog Derby

Val Lougheed has been selected as the 1990 Highlander of the Year.

The selection was announced Wednesday evening at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce held at PineStone Inn.

The yearly award, is made by the Chamber to honour an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to the Haliburton Highlands.

Lougheed is the driving force behind the Minden Sled Dog Derby which has grown over the past six years to be the largest sprint class event of its kind in the world. The race annually draws thousands of visitors and competitors to Minden's Main Street for the two days of racing.

The Highlander of the Year was introduced by Bill Payne on behalf of the Chamber. He told the audience that the race, known as the Minden Techni-cal Challenge, was started in 1985 by Val, her husband Steve and a number of area business people. The race is sponsored by Martin Pet Foods of Elmira, who have enthusiastically backed the race and continue to provide strong financial and moral support of the event.

Payne pointed out that in addition to being the "spark-plug" for the Minden race, Lougheed operates her own business, Northern Lights Vocational Services, is currently serving as president of the Canadian Federation of Sled Dog Sport and member of the International Sled

Ride for Sight battle continues

Residents petition council for event's return

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden council's decision not to allow the Ride for Sight to return next summer has prompted area residents to take up the fight to keep the event in the area.

Last week a group of residents began a petition signing campaign in an effort to get council to reconsider their earlier decision.

The petition, which will be presented to council at the Oct. 25 meeting, urges the councillors to negotiate an agreement with Ride organizers which would address concerns expressed by local residents.

In the event an agreement can't be reached, the owners of South Lake Trailer Park in Snowdon have extended an invitation to host the Ride for Sight on their 102-acre property.

Park owner Bev Vivian says Ride chairman Syd Collier visited the trailer park with Chamber of Commerce president Lyn Stevens after the Oct. 11 council meeting.

In an attempt to gauge the level of local support for the Ride, Vivian canvassed 76 Minden businesses last week and received support from 71 of them. Of the remaining five business owners, three were unavailable, one would not comment and one expressed opposition.

"The results were incredible," said Vivian. "The consensus is that they want it back."

Gerry German, co-chairman of the Ride for Sight organizing committee, told The Times that there are four possible venues being investigated for next year's event.

Ride organizers are considering other venues

Besides Minden and South Lake Trailer Park, the committee will also consider presentations from Fenelon Falls and Shannonville both of whom have expressed interest in hosting the event.

Shannonville, located near Belleville, is the site of the Shannonville Speedway race track.

As of last week the committee had not made any decision, said German. They were to meet with representatives of Shannonville on Sunday and a meeting with Fenelon Falls council has been scheduled for Oct. 29.

German said the committee wants to have a site confirmed by the end of October, although they could delay the decision until as late as Nov. 15.

"The sentimental pressure is to go back to Minden," said German, "but the arena and curling club have to be available."

Before council defeated a resolution to invite the Ride back, a list of conditions was presented that included a performance bond and no expenditure of municipal money.

German said there should have been more discussion before the vote was taken and Ride organizers are willing to negotiate an agreement with the township. "We're not unreasonable people."

Reeve Ray Moore, who along with councillor Lewis Stevens, voted in favour of the Ride's return, says he's been continuing his efforts to bring the Ride back. "I haven't been sitting back doing nothing," he said.

Moore said he's not sure why the vote went the way it did.

"The resolution came out that we would approve the Ride, in principle, subject to negotiating the conditions," he said. "Syd was agreeable and council still had the nerve to shut it down."

Moore said he was under the assumption that Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry was going to support the ride and was surprised when Berry said he would vote against it.

Part of the reason for Berry's vote may have been based on the stormy relationship between the two men during the almost two years they've served on council together.

"Anything I'm behind and support, he doesn't want it," said Moore.

If there is enough public pressure to bring the Ride back, Moore said he would put the issue back on the agenda. "But I can't guarantee I'd have a council that day," said Moore.

In the event council's decision is not reversed, Moore said he would support bringing the Ride to South Lake. "If they agree to go South Lake, there is nothing our township can do," said Moore. He said he'd be in favour of the Ride's headquarters being based at the trailer park with some events still taking place in Minden village.

With the camping located out of the village, Moore said many of the concerns of local residents will also be removed.

Before the trailer park can commit itself to hosting the Ride, Vivian said she still wants to discuss the matter with Snowdon council, the South Lake Cottagers' Association and her neighbours.

Vivian says she doesn't want to leave the impression that she's attempting to steal the event from Minden.

"I don't want Minden to feel we're taking anything away from them," she said. She's hoping that events like the Golden Helmets motorcycle demonstration can still be staged in the village and want to organize an hourly shuttle bus to take riders from the trailer park to Minden.

She also said they would welcome any churches or service clubs that want to operate food booths at the campsite.

Lyn Stevens, president of the Chamber of Commerce, says she was surprised by the council's decision not to invite the Ride back to Minden.

Because of the large number of Ride supporters and the fact that most of the problems connected to the event can be dealt with, Stevens says she doesn't understand why the Ride was turned down.

Copies of the petition are available at the Chamber of Commerce office on Highway 35 and at The Times office on Bobcaygeon Road. Petitions should be returned to The Times no later than Thursday at 4 p.m.

Minden zoning bylaw disputed at OMB hearing

by Susan Grober

Appeals against Hans Walter's proposed industrial rezoning have brought Minden's zoning bylaw into question.

At the Ontario Municipal Board hearing held last Tuesday, a decision on the appeals was postponed until the bylaw can be dealt with at the same time.

Earlier this year, council agreed to a site specific rezoning of a portion of Walter's Canning Lake property under its new comprehensive zoning bylaw, 86-26. The rezoning would allow operation of Walter's pre-fabricated steel business.

However, the 86-26 bylaw passed by council in 1988 has never been given final approval from the province because there are four site specific appeals against it.

Whether this bylaw is in effect is now under dispute.

Chairman Ball decided to hold off on the rezoning until the bylaw can be addressed at the same time. "Until 86-26 is properly enforced, it would not be proper to proceed with (the rezoning)," he said.

Another hearing date will be set as soon as possible to discuss the whole matter. "I'm talking about everything," said Ball. "To clean up the whole mess."

Appeals against the rezoning were made by Albert Cavan, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Lloyd, and the Canning Lake Cottagers Association.

Speaking on their behalf, A. Harbell requested adjournment of the hearing. He argued that bylaw 86-26 isn't in effect, and only through an amendment to Minden's previous zoning bylaw 14-67 could Walter's application be finalized.

"Walter cannot leave this hearing with a final approval in hand and get a building permit," he said.

If council had passed the rezoning amendment to bylaw 14-27, "then I wouldn't be here today," said Harbell.

Harbell also noted that Walter has made plans to relocate his business to an industrial park site in Haliburton. "I understand he has another site he's started construction on, so he will not suffer. That is something to think about."

Speaking on behalf of the municipality, Stephen Woodcock said some added facts were in order. When the bylaw was passed, the Ministry of Natural Resources objected because the flood plain issue had just come into effect. Since then, amendments have been made to reflect the flood plain and these objections were dropped.

The remaining four appeals to the bylaw are for site specific concerns, stressed Woodcock. "They in no way affect or impinge upon the property we're dealing with today."

Previously, in light of the appeals, the municipality would refer to both bylaws 14-67 and 86-26. But planning advisors suggested Minden only refer to the new bylaw.

Woodcock agreed a building permit would not be approved, but added: "There is nothing to prevent the board from

Reduced speed is questioned

Somerville Township Council opposes a Lutterworth bylaw to reduce the speed limit on Somerville Boundary Road.

Passed earlier this month, the bylaw reduces the speed of the road from 80 to 50 km per hour. But Somerville council has sent a letter against this change, saying it will set a precedent. They fear Somerville residents will want the speed reduced on other roads in their township.

During its meeting last Thursday, Lutterworth council decided to respond by informing Somerville they can handle any insurance problems if they don't like the speed limit reduction.

Councillor Lisa Mercer joked that each township could post a different speed limit on their side of the road. "It would be kind of unique to have 50 on our side and 80 on theirs."

Dog Racing Association, the group attempting to get the sport recognized as an Olympic event.

Lougheed is the mother of two and is president of the Minden Sled Dog Derby Inc., the body which organizes the Minden race. In addition to all these responsibilities, she still finds time to train and race dogs herself.

"This award comes as a total shock and surprise," Lougheed told the audience as she accepted the award. She said the people gathered at the annual meeting, and citizens throughout the Highlands hold one of the main keys to the success of the event. "When racers and spectators come to our race, it is people like you who make them feel special," she told the audience. "That's what keeps them coming back year after year."

"We've got magic here," Lougheed concluded, "and it's working, so just keep doing it."

Bill Payne also read a telegram of congratulations from the race sponsors, Don and Wally Martin. They added their good wishes to the award and said, "We know how hard you work and how much you deserve this award. Your community can only benefit from your efforts."

Additional awards

Several other honours were handed out at the annual meeting as well. Among those was an honorary life membership to the former Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins. Speaking on behalf of the Chamber, Bob Stinson told the audience that Eakins had earned the respect of fellow MPPs on both sides of the house for his diligent service to his constituents and the province during his 15 years in office. He said, "the popular MPP did not compromise his principles throughout his terms in office and, was always there for the Chamber when we needed him." Eakins responded by saying he was touched and proud to receive the membership. He said tourism was deep in his heart and while he had retired, he was willing to assist, "on a voluntary basis, in any way I can." Eakins paid tribute to the Chamber of Commerce and in particular singled out the work of Bob Stinson when he served as Chamber manager.

The Chamber also introduced a new award this year. Known as the Business Achievement Award, the recipients are chosen by the Chamber's Board of Directors based on leadership in service and contribution made to community life. Introduced by Board member Shawn Hagerman, he said he hoped the award would become an annual one.

In its inaugural year, the award was jointly awarded to The Times and the Haliburton County Echo.

In introducing the recipients, Hagerman described the two weekly newspapers as "integral parts of our community. The week doesn't seem complete without them. We paid them money, agreed with them, got angry at them, started fires with them and thrown them in the dump."

He pointed to the leadership provided by The Times in rallying the community when a racist rally was held near Minden in 1989. "The 'Yes' poster campaign worked to unite all those in our community to show that racism and bigotry have no place in our midst," Hagerman said.

He also noted the Echo had been the recipient of numerous awards over the years and in the past year was recognized as the best community newspaper in its circulation class.

"We, in this community, are truly blessed with not one but two, active, thoughtful and community spirit driven publications. May you always inform us, challenge us, disturb us and help us become the best that we can," he concluded.

The awards were accepted by publishers Jack Brezina of The Times and Len Pizzey of The Echo.

Stall frustrates residents with flood damage claims

by Susan Grober

It'll be a while yet before a group of anxious Haliburton residents and business owners learn when their claims for damages resulting from the May 23 flood will finally be settled.

And the longer they wait for restitution, the more their frustration mounts.

Last Monday, members of Dysart council met with Brent Clarkson of Ian Pepper Insurance Adjusters, and with Lyle Wells of the Frank Cowan Company, which is handling the municipality's insurance.

The meeting was held to discuss an engineer's report stating that if the township hadn't built an embankment downstream of the Moss Pond dam, flooding when the dam broke would have been less severe.

Insurance company representative Maureen Cowan says the meeting was held in camera, and further details can't be discussed.

"We can't say anything until after the lawyers have gone through the information and come to us with their recommendations," she says. "I imagine it will take a couple of weeks."

Meanwhile, people such as Jill Cook of Cook's Produce and Variety are disappointed over the wait for compensation.

"We're in a financial bind over it, but who cares? It's just a stand-off between us and the township," she says. "I'm just waiting—it's all I can do."

Cook can't say exactly how much money it cost her to pick up the pieces after the flood. "There could be structural damage to the building, but I don't know. An engineer was in to inspect it," she says.

Refrigerated and frozen produce and dairy goods worth about $9,000 were destroyed when the power was shut off, says Cook. "I lost a lot of stuff."

The loss has come at an especially bad time. "This wasn't a very good summer for many businesses in Haliburton," says Cook. "We're hurting. We could use that money right now."

"I get so mad, I don't even like to talk about it."

Beryl O'Connor of Highland Glass gives her reaction to the engineer's report: "To be honest with you, I laughed. It looks really good on them (the municipality)."

O'Connor is fed up with the wait. "Why should it take so long? That report was due in a month." She's also upset because the report, which is dated September 1, wasn't made public until recently.

"If it was sent in September, why didn't we hear about it until the middle of October?" O'Connor asks. "That involves the whole town. We should all know this information. All the taxpayers should have learned about that report."

O'Connor says Brent Clarkson is the only one who's kept in contact with her since the flood. "He's been really understanding," she says. "He's been really helpful in helping us put our claim together. I'm just glad we're dealing with a human being — someone who can appreciate our feelings and what we've been through. "They're pushing people to put their claims in. I just hope they don't insult us by offering far less than our claim."

"We're not out to make money on it," she adds cautiously. "We hope to break even. It's a fair bit of money. We lost a lot, including hours and hours of cleaning time and lost business."

After the flood, O'Connor was distressed to hear the municipality has no emergency funds to help out "in disastrous situations."

Now, all O'Connor can do is wait. "How much longer is it going to be now?" she asks. "I think it's taken too long as it is. I just wish the whole thing was over."

Kennisis rezoning is challenged

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

A decision by Stanhope council to rezone three lots along the Kennisis River is being challenged by a neighbouring resident.

The three lots, which are part of the Hawk Valley Estates property, were rezoned from Recreational Commercial to Shoreline Residential, but the move prompted concerns from the Hall/Hawk Lakes Property Owners Associations and an objection from resident Peter Deller.

Deller addressed council and said he lives across the river from the subject properties. By allowing the land to be rezoned Shoreline Residential, Deller said council would open the doors to further development of the 40-lot subdivision being planned by Hawk Valley Estates.

"It's a very sensitive environmental area," said Deller. Further development would add to the stresses being placed on Kennisis River and Hawk Lake, he said.

The Hall/Hawk Lake association didn't object to the rezoning but did request, in writing, that the township give a written guarantee of certain conditions.

The association asked that there be no change in the appearance or habitat of the shoreline, that there be no run-off affecting the water quality in the river of Halls Lake and that there be no change in the river bed or river course.

Reeve Harry Davis said the association's concerns will be dealt with by the ministries of natural resources and the environment during the registered plan of subdivision process.

Councillor Fred Stevens said Deller's objections related to the plans for the subdivision rather than the rezoning of the three properties. "It's a separate proposal," he said.

Editorial

Discussing the importance of protecting our environment has gotten to the point where it's almost a cliché.

Over the last two years, environmental issues have occupied the forefront of Canadians' concerns and the word 'green' is being used generously by politicians and industry alike.

But all the rhetoric and good intentions in the world won't save our air and water or solve the crisis of shrinking land-fill sites.

It is with our children and our grandchildren that our greatest hope lies. Because the environmental revolution is only just beginning, today's adults are being asked to re-evaluate their lifestyles and change their attitudes towards consumption and the need for conservation.

For many these changes do not come easy. After growing up in a disposable world where ease and convenience took precedence over concern for the environment, it's difficult to re-adjust and take responsibility for our actions.

Only by teaching today's children, starting from the earliest possible age, the importance of living environmentally sustainable lifestyles can we hope to reverse the destruction we've inflicted on the Earth.

In an effort of encourage youthful leadership in these issues, The Times is sponsoring a poster and essay contest in conjunction with Recycling Week '90, which runs from Nov. 19 to 15.

The theme of this year's contest is "The Future is R's: Reduce, Reuse, Recycle" and we're asking young people to share their ideas on how to minimize the amount of waste we produce.

The entries are being judged locally and prizes have been donated by the local businesses listed on pages 18 and 19 of this week's paper. A selection of essays will appear in the Nov. 19 issue of The Times and posters will be displayed at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery during the same week.

Locally, students have already demonstrated their commitment to the environment through school recycling projects and letters to the Prime Minister about pollution.

It's their future that hangs in the balance. By listening to their ideas today, we just might ensure they have a tomorrow.

Well, that used to be the way things were, Virginia. Up until just a few years ago, biologists believed that about 95 per cent of all bird species were nuclear family types, one mother and one father sharing the burden of raising their brood. Lately, scientists have been looking a little more closely and discovering that those families aren't quite as squeaky-clean as they'd first thought.

In fact they now estimate that up to 30 per cent of the birds in any given nest were probably sired by

Council's handling of Ride meeting unimpressive

The following is a letter sent to Minden Council.

Council:

At its meeting on Thursday, October 11th, Council voted against the return of the Ride for Sight to Minden. During the meeting, there was debate as to why the Ride should or should not be allowed to return, as well as statements by Council members as to why they would vote the way they did. Their decision appears to have been based on the fact that Council was not satisfied that certain conditions would be met by Ride organizers.

All this I can accept. After all, as Councillors, you were elected to make these decisions. However, there are a few things I would like to draw attention to.

First of all, I was not very impressed with the way the meeting was conducted. The whole process was pushed through too fast, without allowing sufficient time for reflection and discussion, as the recent editorial in The Times so rightly pointed out. For my part, it was only after I had had a chance to talk with other people afterward, then to sit back and think over the whole question that I

Councillors made a serious mistake

The following is a copy of a letter sent to Minden Councillors Bern Berry, Bob Sisson and Mike Maher.

To Messers Bern, Bob & Mike:

How you three gentlemen can take it upon yourselves to deny the local merchants and taxpayers an influx of some 5,000 people to our area is beyond belief. As has been noted, the benefits of the Ride for Sight far outweigh any inconveniences.

Wouldn't it be great if politicians listened to the majority of taxpayers rather than a few mild protesters. It seems the Ride organizers are willing to make concessions and are being very flexible. Before we close our doors forever to an event of this magnitude, we should most definitely allow the return of the Ride with the proposed conditions in place.

Our community's welfare is based almost entirely on tourism and to turn this event away is a serious, serious mistake.

Ride decision to turn Minden into sleepy town

Editor:

The demolition trio has hit again!

Ride for Sight was scuttled - the majority was overruled - This TRIO stands absolutely responsible and are to blame for not realizing the plusses of this Ride to this community, tourism, the economy - employment - and mainly for ignoring the majority - the people who believed in their intelligence enough to elect them.

Are they responsible enough to hold an open meeting to debate this in Public? I doubt it, Don't do as I do - do as I say! But on election day - we will do otherwise, and the handshakes, the smiles, the chatty conversations will not sway the majority this time around - once bit twice shy.

Our only hope left is that Ray Moore has his name on the ballot - he does recognize his responsibility to his constituents and is our only hope in many ways. Of course he is a businessman and conducts himself in such a manner that he is not thinking of himself but of the majority.

Sleep on Minden, no noise in passive Minden will ever disturb you, and for God's sake the last one out of town turn out the lights.

Minden.

Autumn's arrival

Some of our feathered friends are philanderers

a, as the saying goes, "non-resident male".

And it's not just our feathered friends who are afflicted with the roving eye. Scientists have been shadowing rabbits, elk and ground squirrels more closely than ever before.

Same story, basically. They've found that the aforementioned species fool around a lot more than we ever thought they did - and what's more it's the females who usually initiate the debauchery.

As often as not, the male is reduced to a helpless blustering cuckold, storming around kicking pine cones and cursing his in-laws while his inamorata is out painting the forest red with some other stud.

The male Idaho ground squirrel is particularly pathetic. When his mate is in heat, the male dogs her tirelessly right around the clock. He'll even chase her down a hole and sit on top of it to keep her away from any passing curly-tailed Casanovas.

As for birds, the experts are having trouble finding any feathered species that lives up to the old Puritan ethic. Even tiny chickadees, those chirpy, Audrey Hepburnish innocents who spend the winters with us, are not, it seems, immune to an illicit roll in the snow.

Philandering is rampant in the so-called animal world. Patricia Gowaty, a biologist at Clemson University says "It seems that all our old assumptions are incorrect."

Mind you, there may be a perfectly sound biological reason for all the extra-marital matings these critters get up to. Experts theorize that the females may be ensuring that their eggs get fertilized by a variety of male donors, thus guaranteeing genetic diversity in her offspring.

Unlike humans, they don't do it just for fun.

Reminds me of the story of the old general who, off to the wars, locked his young wife in a chastity belt and gave the key to his best friend. "If I'm not back in a year, release my wife" said the general, and then he set off. That night in camp the General looked up to see his best friend galloping up to his tent. "General," he gasped, "you gave me the wrong key."

Both sides to blame for failure to reach agreement on Ride began to understand the opportunities that were missed by both sides.

For instance, I believe an opportunity was missed to hold a public meeting on the issue so that as much information and opinion as possible could be heard from all parties. The public should have been given more voice, whether it be pro or con. Reeve Ray Moore did not help his position in support of the Ride by trying to limit open debate. Council should have reserved voting on the issue until such a meeting could be held and until all information was received and considered.

Council should also have reserved voting until such time as they had conducted negotiations with Ride for Sight organizers on the matters of a letter of intent, a performance bond, and a guarantee that the Ride cover the costs of all necessary security, sanitary facilities, and damages — and produced the necessary documents.

Then and only then could an objective vote be taken. Proceeding in this manner would have shown good faith on both sides.

On the other hand, I feel that the Ride for Sight organizer missed the opportunity to put his case most effectively by not showing up with the documentation referred to above already in hand. After all, the concerns expressed at the meeting by Minden residents about the Ride for Sight have been well known for some time and should have come as no surprise to anyone.

Fundamentally, the problem was that neither Council nor the Ride organizer handled the process in a business-like manner. Both sides have their legitimate points, but they are details — and details are things that can be taken care of through negotiation. After all, it is in the interests of both sides that this thing work. Furthermore, the groundwork laid and lessons learned by such discussions are critical for the future of other events that may think about coming here so that Council can also deal with them in an effective manner.

In fact, I have questions about the implications of this vote for the future of the community. What will happen the next time some corporation, sports organizer, or major gathering is looking for a place to hold their event and considers Minden as a venue?

Finally, I am also deeply concerned that there appear to be fundamental antagonisms between certain Council members which are having a negative effect on the development of this community. Councillors should leave such differences aside when they enter the Council Chamber and concentrate on the needs of the community.

For all these reasons, I would like to ask Council to re-open the question, to enter into negotiations with Ride for Sight organizers on the topics referred to above, and to hold a public meeting to address citizens' concerns. A final decision on the location of the 1991 Ride for Sight does not have to be taken until sometime in November, leaving just enough time to accomplish these objectives.

To discover the level of community support for such a move, a petition has been drawn up. Copies are available at the Chamber of Commerce office on Highway 35 and at The Times office on Main Street. Signed petitions can be returned to The Times but must arrive no later than 4:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 25th, in order to be presented at the next Council meeting which will be held that evening at 7:30 p.m.

All ratepayers in Anson, Hindon and Minden should be urged to pick up copies of the petition and sign it if they wish. Anyone who can attend the Council meeting on October 25th should do so, not just for this issue, but so that Council will be reminded, when similar issues arise in the future, that the public has to be heard from.

Michael Homestead,
Minden.

Ride should be welcomed back because of benefits to the area

The following is a letter sent to Minden Council from the Scenic Highway 35 Association.

Dear Sirs:

Since its inception to this area, the Ride for Sight has been a welcomed boost to the economy of Haliburton County during the quiet days of June. The interest and benefits in accepting the return of this high profile event certainly extends beyond the boundaries of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships. The Ride for Sight introduces many new tourists to our area and provides much needed revenue to our tourism based economy.

In previous years, the Ride for Sight was perceived as an opportunity for the Town of Minden and was welcomed accordingly. The decision was correct in that the community benefited economically and the charitable Ride for Sight flourished.

As with any mass event, problems do arise and must be addressed. The Ride for Sight and the present council are aware of the problems and had discussed precautionary measures.

The positive benefits of the Ride for Sight greatly outweigh the negative points that have been put forward. Let's admit out initial decision was based upon sound judgement and together welcome back the charitable Ride for Sight so that our county citizens will again benefit during these recessionary times.

Reader thanks those who helped

Editor:

I wish to express my deep gratitude and appreciation to the residents and neighbours in the Carnarvon, Kushog and Boshkung Lake area who responded so quickly and kindly in my hour of need on October 12, 1990 when I lost my house due to fire.

I am relatively new to the area, but in the short period of time I have lived here, I find everyone very kind and helpful.

Thank you again and my thanks to the Stanhope and Minden Fire Departments for their valiant efforts to save my house.

A special thank you to Carl Harrison and family and Bruce, Brenda and Frank Conboy for their strength and kindness that afternoon and evening.

Yours truly,

Dysart considers financial help for struggling Highland Games

Dysart council feels it may have to offer more assistance to the Highland Games committee, which this year suffered a budget deficit of over $4,700.

"It's going to be a dead project if we don't help," said Councillor Murray Fearrey at this month's council meeting.

Council has donated $5,000 to the Highland Games each year since it came to Dysart's Glebe Park in 1989.

"This is the second year of the games, and if they lose one more it'll be gone," said Fearrey. "We need to show more initiative to be of some assistance."

Councillor Bob Nicholls commented that this year's games were better than last year's because a caber toss competition was added to the activities. "We need more heavy games (to bring people to the event)," he said.

Fearrey questioned whether June is a good time to hold the games, and suggested September might be better.

"It's been tossed around," said Councillor Brian Watts. "My personal feeling is June is the best time. The only problem is the weather is uncertain."

Watts later said he didn't think there is an alternative date available.

Councillor Dorothy Baker commended the people who make up the Highland Games committee. "They have a good committee. But, unfortunately, last year it rained on the Saturday."

"I just don't think we can sit back and let it sputter, that's all," said Fearrey.

dealing with this today, since the appeals have no relevance to this case... it is not clear that 86-26 has no legal status."

He cited a case against the City of Cornwall where a building permit was issued based on a bylaw which was not yet approved by the province. Harbell disputed this example, saying it wasn't appropriate to the case at hand.

"What is the pressing reason that we proceed today?" asked Harbell. "There is no pressing reason to proceed, and several reasons not to."

In response, Walter said he wanted to get the matter over with. "Since three years I'm waiting. I'd like to get on with this case."

After a recess, Chairman Ball decided to adjourn the matter, notwithstanding all points raised in Harbell's testimony.

After phoning the municipal board to set another date, Ball discovered the person responsible was not available. Because there are presently 1,300 files waiting to be processed, Ball said it could be awhile.

"But sometimes there are slots that appear on the calendar... we should be ready in three months time."

Senior kickers face Fenelon Falls in play-off game to decide division

Haliburton's senior soccer team is in a tie for first place after beating LCVI 5-2 last Wednesday.

The Redmen are now tied with the Fenelon Falls Falcons atop the Kawartha West division and will playoff for the division title this Tuesday.

Coach Mark Flatman says the seniors dominated play led by centre Jan Haedicke who spearheaded an excellent passing attack with his wingers.

In the other game of the afternoon, the junior Redmen lost 4-1 to the LCVI juniors, with Darren Parsons scoring the lone Haliburton goal.

Flatman says the juniors, who end the season with a

1-1-4 record, showed improvement since the start of the season and were the only team in the division to tie the powerful Lindsay squad.

Both the junior and senior football teams came up with wins Friday afternoon in games played at HHSS. The Junior Redmen extended their unbeaten streak, blanking LCVI 21-0. The seniors kept their play-off hopes alive downing the visitors 14-9.

The juniors first TD came following an interception by Chris Greenfield near the Lindsay goal line. Greenfield was on the receiving end of a pitch and run play that took him 15 yards to notch the teams first points. Greg Brohman added two more points on a pass conversion from Corby Kent.

For the remainder of the first half, the two teams traded first down as they moved the ball between the posts, with neither team able to score. The juniors took control in the second half, moving the ball smartly up the field with runs of 220 and 25 yards by Jerry Cooper. He capped this effort with a six yard dash across the goal line. Kent and Brohman combined again for the two point conversion.

In the final quarter, two lengthy runs by Andy Bacon, 25 and 35 yards, set the offensive squad up for an eight yard dash by Cooper once again, for the third touchdown of the game. The conversion attempt was missed, leaving the Redmen with a 21 point total.

quarter was to follow suit as the Lindsay team marched up the field. However, the Redmen defense was able to hold them just one yard shy of the goal line where they regained possession of the ball. In classic football style, quarterback Sean Perrin, handed-off to Ryan Timbers, who ran the 109 yards downfield, eluding tacklers along the way to finally put the Redmen on the scoreboard. A two point conversion pass from Perrin to Craig Bain gave the Redmen eight in their march to victory. Lindsay dominated the first quarter of play and scored the first touchdown of the game in the second quarter. With the conversion, it gave the visitors a 7-0 lead going into the second half.

Penalties interfered with the Redmen attempts to gain any ground, with the visitors adding a two point safety touch to their side of the score sheet.

It appeared the fourth noted the elusive running play of Cooper and Bacon as major contributors to the team's performance. The coach pointed out that slot-back Bacon is averaging 19.6 yards a carry during the season.

Outstanding players on the defensive squad included Cory Reynolds, Steve McCracken and Ross Lemon.

The seniors faced a bit more of an up-hill struggle points.

The TD turned the tide for the Redmen, as they regained control of the game. Sitting on the Lindsay 40 yard line, Perrin threw a quick pitch to Timbers, who ran the distance to the Lindsay goal line. An attempt at a two point conversion failed. The Redmen were able to hold off the Lindsay attack and secured the win.

The junior team is now assured of a place in the league's play-off schedule, by virtue of their undefeated record. If they win next week, they will be named Kawartha West champions.

The seniors must win next week to force a play-off game with I.E. Weldon of Lindsay.

Both games will be played Friday afternoon at HHSS with the junior game starting at 1:30 p.m.

These are some of the children who enjoy the care and amusement provided by the after-school day care program run in the CHACE day care centre in Minden.

After-school care offered

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

In an effort to reduce the number of "latch key kids" in the Minden area, the County of Haliburton Association for Child Enhancement (CHACE) is promoting an after-school day care program.

The service, offered to children aged six to nine-years-old, operates from the basement of the CHACE day care centre on Prentice St. in Minden.

The after-school program is a spin-off from the service that was offered to school-age children during the summer, but CHACE administrator Cheryl Cathcart says attendance has been low since school began.

"We anticipated there would have been a heavier demand," said Cathcart. "People are not aware that we're offering an after-school program."

She says she's concerned that there still might be children who go home to empty houses after school and are not receiving proper care or supervisions until their parents get home from work.

The Prentice St. facility was renovated to make room for the summer program and Cathcart says the after-school program is licensed to handle 15 children. The centre also has a wide range of newly purchased toys and equipment for the children to use.

Under the supervision of staff member No Wiebe, the children are fed a nutritious snack and are involved in a variety of structured crafts and play activities. "The kids really enjoy it," says Cathcart.

When weather permits, the children go outside to a fenced-in play area to use bikes, scooters and structures to climb on.

Although the children have some freedom to choose their own activities, Cathcart says it's structured and supervised. "They're not just sitting in front of a television set all afternoon."

The centre has tried to tailor the activities to interest the older children as well as the younger ones, she said.

The service runs from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. from Monday to Friday and costs $6 a day. Interested parents should contact Wendy at 286-4074 to register.

Lougheed thanks Chamber for Highlander award

Editor:

I would like to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce for presenting me with the Highlander of the Year award. I can't begin to express how touched (and surprised) I was by this!

The Minden Techni-cal Challenge Sled Dog Derby has certainly grown and flourished over the past seven years, and the Haliburton Highlands has been host to many, many visitors because of this event. The work that goes into this kind of event is monumental, and I certainly can not take sole credit for all of this.

The Minden Sled Dog Derby Committee diligently works year round to put together the sled dog race. Stuart Brandon is the 'idea man'. He comes up with all sorts of creative, wonderful and unique ways to promote, market and run this event. He has taken us above the crowd, so to speak, and put Minden on the map. Jack Brezina puts in many long hours as the print and advertising person. His talents and know how in the business has given this event the professional reputation it has come to be known for. Susan Wilson lends us her creative talents by writing up all the press releases and race information that are sent to media people all over the world about this race. Without Susan, we would not have the kind of spectatorship and media coverage we now enjoy. My husband Steve provides us all with the sound wisdom of how to put on a good sled dog race. He sets up the trails, grooms them and makes sure that all the technical aspects of this event are up to international requirements. And, of course, he also trains our own dogs all year so that we can race too.

During race weekend, over 100 other energetic volunteers give freely of their time, talent (and body heat) to make this race a success. Without them, all our plans would remain on our kitchen table, and there would be no race.

In working together, this county has the capacity to do anything it wants to! We have the talent, the know how and the human resources to make things happen.

For myself, being surrounded by such wonderful people makes me realize that there is no other place on earth I would rather live.

Thanks to Bill Payne and the Chamber for this honour.

New system connects local business to world

by Susan Grober

Soon manufacturers in Haliburton County will have the world in their hands.

Recognizing the movement toward a global economy, the Haliburton County Development Corporation has joined the World Trade Centre and World Trade Centre Network. As members, the corporation has access to an electronic trading service that links over 3,000 clients and their affiliates around the world.

The computer Bulletin Board has offers to buy and offers to sell sections, enabling the county's businesses to market their goods internationally for a small fee.

"Hopefully, we'll find something of interest for people in the county," says corporation General Manager Andy Campbell. "To print out a name off the computer, it would cost a customer in Haliburton a buck."

Then information from the Haliburton manufacturer is sent to the possible customer, "and it's up to them to contact the people here."

To list an advertisement on the Bulletin Board would cost about $50 for two weeks.

As an example of how the service works, an ad in the offers to buy section requests wood for making pallets. This could provide expanded business for the planing mill in Wilberforce.

These ads are read by people in 800 cities in 64 countries, from Antigua and

General Manager Andy Campbell

Argentina to the Virgin Islands and Wales. And now Haliburton County can be added to the list.

Campbell learned about the service at a conference this spring on exporting and small businesses. "Both the federal and provincial governments are pushing exporting, so I thought we should learn more about it," he says.

"The general theme was if you don't export, you're going to die. If you don't start encroaching on someone else's market, they'll get yours."

The total cost of the Bulletin Board service to the corporation is $1,100. "If my customers want to place ads, it won't cost me anything. And for the cost of a long distance phone call to Peterborough, I can access everything on the computer.

"It seemed reasonably priced, so I figured why not give our manufacturers an opportunity."

Campbell has already contacted a few local manufacturers about the service. "They're all pleased. It's an inexpensive way of getting their products known world-wide."

There are about 20 manufacturers in the county who can benefit, says Campbell. And other businesses are welcome to try.

The development corporation is working with various world trade centres, international trade offices and Canadian Consuls to investigate the export market potential for Haliburton County. For further information on exporting or receiving the computer bulletins, call 457-3555.

Lutterworth council gives up idea of noise by-law

by Susan Grober

The idea of establishing a noise bylaw in Lutterworth has been sacked by council.

At last Thursday's meeting, Bylaw Enforcement Officer Ernie Roylance presented council with noise bylaws used in a number of areas, including Stanhope, Dysart, Lindsay, Somerville and Minden.

Minden's bylaw calls for quiet hours between midnight and 7 a.m., and has sections which take care of problems over barking dogs, explained Roylance. "And the size of the fines are a real deterrent."

Councillor Maurice Boyd said he likes the Minden bylaw. "I just think we should make it as easily enforced as possible."

"I won't go for it," said Councillor Lisa Mercer. "It's too vague."

Mercer cited two points in the bylaw which state "no person shall make an unusual noise," and "no person shall shout between midnight and 7 a.m."

"It's much too vague, and I feel it's going to cause us more hardship than benefit us."

Deputy-Reeve Jim McMahon and Councillor Bill Valentine both agreed.

Valentine said the township has tackled noise problems for years, but could never find an appropriate way to control noise. "I'd like to get rid of the whole thing."

"That's three nays, so we'll just file all this information until the next time (the problem comes) around," said Reeve Carol Puffer.

MPP Drainville aims to fight tourism slump

There is definitely a need for a greater effort in attracting tourists to destinations in Ontario, Victoria-Haliburton MPP Dennis Drainville told the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night.

It was the freshman MPP's first major public appearance in the county since the provincial election of September 6 which swept him and a majority of NDP candidates into office.

Drainville was cautious about offering any concrete solutions to the current state of tourism in the province and county. He prefaced his remarks by saying tourism was not his strong point and by noting that since his party were as surprised as anyone by its victory, policy directions are still being forged.

He told the meeting he was looking for their assistance in familiarizing him with the unique nature of tourism in the Highlands and how the new government can best serve the needs of the industry and the people they hope to attract to the province.

Drainville provided an over-view of the tourism industry in the province, noting that it was the fourth largest economic sector in Ontario representing a $15 billion expenditure each year. That money generated $6 billion in taxes and provided one out of every nine jobs in the province.

"Tourism is vital to the provincial economy," he told the audience, pointing out that 80 per cent of the province's tourism sector is operated by small business owners.

He noted a number of problems have lead to the recent slump in tourism in Ontario. While tourism is growing worldwide, the province has not benefited in proportion to that growth.

He said the province is attracting fewer visitors from the United States. He blamed Victoria-Haliburton MPP Dennis Drainville was the key-note speaker at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce. He told the gathering the tourism industry will face challenging times in the next few years.

the lure of more exotic (and warmer) locales, cheaper airline fares offered in the U.S., and an aging population which is seeking less rigorous activities. The unfavourable exchange rate has hurt efforts to attract U.S. visitors as has a multitude of taxes which are applied here but are not found in other vacation areas. Among the taxes which visitors must pay are those assessed on room rentals, liquor, telephone calls, and the looming goods and services tax.

Drainville pointed out the previous provincial government had not planned to increase the advertising budget for the coming year in the tourism sector and that visitors were demanding a higher quality of service for the dollars they spend. He also suggested the province's tourism infrastructure was underdeveloped, especially in relation to winter attractions.

Again, stressing he was not stating his government's policy, he referred to a recent (Liberal) government report that could provide the basis for a rejuvenation of the tourism industry. Among the points contained in the report were:

- unrestricted Sunday shopping. (A point which is contrary to the NDP position and will not likely be accepted).
- reduction in the Employer Health Tax to .5 per cent from the current 2 per cent for tourism based operations.
- decrease in taxes on wine and alcohol.
- elimination of the room tax.
- directing all road taxes to the improvement of the province's highways.
- $100 million spent on new attractions in the province.

The MPP stressed these points provided a basis from which the discussion for creating a new direction in tourism could be built.

He also added a number of points where the industry could help. He suggested the NDP government would encourage private investment.

However quickly the government and private sector are able to react to the changes in the market, Drainville said there are probably several slow years before spending in tourism increases again.

He also noted that the suggestion has been made by a number of observers that the Highlands lacks an image of its own, that this area is perceived by the public as simply a cottage area. He said this is where organizations like the Chamber of Commerce can play their biggest and best role by putting the Highlands on the map as a tourist destination point.

Drainville offered his help to assist the local industry and the Chamber in their effort to promote their businesses and area. But again he stressed, he needed their help as well, in bringing him 'up to speed' on issues of importance. "I will help you in any way I can to make this industry more prosperous," he concluded, "but I am new at this and am turning to you for guidance and assistance."

Traditional natives resist the modern changes

My family and I spent the last week of summer on the northern tip of a land Haida people have occupied since beyond memory. They call it Haida Gwaii. We newcomers to this place have named it the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Perched on the western rim of Canada within spitting distance of the Alaskan panhandle, this remote archipelago is such a rich storehouse of animal and plant life that some call it Canada's Galapagos Islands.

We stayed in a new longhouse at the site of an ancient village called Kiusta, just east of Yaku where old poles still stand as silent reminders of the great civilization that once flourished here. Across the neck of a peninsula, three new Haida longhouses at Taa'lung'slung guard the pristine beaches.

Here the most dedicated workaholic has to change pace to the rhythm of the surroundings. Here one has time to reflect. My spine tingled to walk on land that once echoed with drums and songs of a vibrant people but where now only twisted trees and dim outlines in moss reveal the poles and longhouses.

Not long ago, the Haida occupied dozens of settlements and hundreds of temporary sites throughout the islands. How could they have survived the catastrophe that wiped out 80 to 90 per cent of the people in a matter of years? The strongest were just as susceptible to smallpox as small children and elders. How did the few survivors keep from going mad with

by David Suzuki

the fabric of their communities so cruelly destroyed. Today smallpox is extinct and miraculously, the descendants of those survivors still occupy two villages (Masset and Skidegate) and are reasserting their culture and presence. The new longhouses attest to that.

Across the narrow strait separating Kiusta from Langara Island, three huge floating lodges for sport fishers are anchored. The Haida have formulated a plan to manage the salmon resources of the islands which calls for a reduction in catches by the sport fishery. They have been supported by most of the small lodges and commercial trollers. So in the matter of fish, there is an opportunity for all islanders to work out a plan to sustain the yield of a renewable resource.

From Taa'lung'slung, the Pacific Ocean stretches all the way to Japan. Yet even here, the beaches are littered with the familiar detritus of modern society — plastic in all forms, glass bottles, floats, rope and much more. It was a reminder that the planet is a single entity and that we don't "get rid" of garbage, we only shift it around.

Around Kiusta, the biological abundance in the forests and the water is overwhelming. The trees of the rainforest are massive and untouched. The bays were jammed with humpbacks (pink salmon) waiting for rains to swell the rivers while the dog (chum) salmon were just arriving. The surf teems with tiny shrimp-like creatures that are at the base of the zoological food chain. Out to sea, huge clouds of birds — puffins, auklets, gulls — gorged on immense schools of needlefish, while black bass and other fish flopped out of the water in pursuit of the same prey. And of course the prized chinook salmon were being caught in large numbers by sport fishers from the lodges.

In spite of the sense of limitless abundance in Haida Gwaii, changes are noticeable. In the middle of the island chain, large clear-cut acres in the forest are visible everywhere. Abalone are being depleted rapidly while millions of giant clams called geoducks are being blasted out of the ocean bottom and shipped to Japan even though scientists know virtually nothing about their biology and reproductive needs.

Salmon, birds and many marine mammals feed on herring yet the small fish is exploited in a most wasteful, shortsighted way. Spawning herring are netted by the millions just for the female's eggs, then the carcasses are thrown away and the eggs sent to Japan. The Haida traditionally harvest the roe (gow) after it's laid on kelp so the fish are not harmed. Why then is roe herring fishing allowed? It makes no sense at all.

Motoring around Langara Island, we spotted a thin, tall spout and then the immense tail of a sperm whale as it made a deep dive. It reminded me of our July trip to the Khutzeymatin Valley to watch grizzly bears. On the boat out, we had encountered a pod of killer whales. When one of the animals surfaced after a long dive, my 10-year-old daughter burst into tears. "That whale went so far on one breath of air," she wailed "and we coop them up in such tiny tanks. It's cruel!"

Looking up at the spectacular display of stars in the clear night sky, I thought about the recent visit of relatives from Cleveland. They had stayed at our cottage and the teenagers were astounded to see the Milky Way for the first time in their lives! They were equally impressed with being able to drink creek water without worrying about its purity. What kind of world and expectations are we leaving for our children?

Haida Gwaii's remoteness is a great advantage to the people who live there. They have a sense of connection with and respect for land and sea because they depend on them. Cooperation and sharing are a vital part of the communities and the people have a chance to live within the biological productivity of that enchanted people. For city dwellers, a visit to the islands provides a chance to rethink our values and priorities.

Heating in the Winter. Air Conditioning in the Summer. It's all there, right under our Feet.

If you want to reduce your electric heating bill, look down at your feet. Now look a few feet further. Look at the earth itself. It could be your next source of heating and air conditioning.

Ground source heat pumps are designed to draw heat from the earth and pump it into your home. In the summer, the ground source heat pump reverses its operation. It extracts heat and humidity from your home and pumps it into the earth. The excess heat can also be used to heat domestic hot water or swimming pools and hot tubs.

This is truly the cleanest most efficient way to heat and air condition your home. And while ground source heat pumps cost more than traditional furnaces and air conditioners they soon pay for themselves with savings. That's why today's progressive home builders and renovators are specifying them for their clients.

Call us for more information about ground source heat pumps. You'll see that one of the most advanced technologies in heating and cooling is as old as the earth itself.

In the courtsLicense suspended for impaired driver

The following cases were heard on October 17 in provincial court in Minden by Judge A.R. Morgan. S. Rusen presided as Crown Attorney.

Kevin Michael McColl, 18, of Haliburton pleaded guilty to willfully damaging a 1990 Dodge Dakota owned by John Cooper on August 19.

The truck was parked in front of the Dysart Arena, and the accused kicked and scratched the tail-gate while intoxicated. The scratches were later buffed out at no cost to Cooper, and no sign of damages remain.

McColl, who has no criminal record, said he was suffering from personal problems at the time.

He was sentenced to six months probation, and must perform five hours of community service.

Michael Dean Preston of Kinmount pleaded guilty to impaired driving on September 8.

The Minden OPP had a RIDE program set up that night at Highway 118 near Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton. Preston's Chevrolet pick-up was followed as he turned onto Pine Street from Sunnyside. Preston made another turn after the police car's lights were turned on, and stopped shortly after the siren was activated.

Preston told police he'd had several beers, and failed an alert test administered on site. Beer was found in the truck.

A breathalyzer performed at the OPP station showed that Preston had 160 mg of alcohol in 100 ml of blood. He was described as being polite and co-operative, and slight impairment was noted when a co-ordination test was done.

Rusen suggested this was not an appropriate case to lay the minimum fine. "He appears to have been abating the RIDE program," Rusen said.

"I'm sorry I did it," said Preston, who works in Haliburton.

Preston's license was suspended, and he's prohibited from driving for one year in accordance with the Highway Traffic Act. He must pay a $750 fine, plus a $50 surcharge.

Ludovic Fulop of Hamilton pleaded guilty to impaired driving on May 16.

Fulop, who has no criminal record, was stopped at a RIDE program operated by Sgt. Steve Adam on Highway 35, and was arrested after failing an alert test.

Two breathalyzers performed 17 minutes apart showed Fulop had 153 mg and 141 mg of alcohol in 100 ml of blood.

Speaking through an interpreter, the Hungarian native said he didn't know how that reading could be accurate because he'd only consumed two beers that night. "He does not say he didn't drink. He just thinks they're too high," said the interpreter, Ms. Kovacs.

Rusen explained that Fulop couldn't "dispute the facts" without a lawyer.

Anticipating that his license would be suspended, Fulop asked whether he could have special privilege to just drive to and from work.

"There is no power in this court to allow you to drive a motor vehicle intermittently," said Judge Morgan.

Morgan said he will strike Fulop's plea of guilty, and recommended that Fulop apply for legal aid. Fulop must return to court on November 2.

Kids' Korner

by Jean Lacey

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters.

Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Seniors enjoy scenic drive down the Deep Bay Road

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Hello folks, another month is almost gone and it is Thursday again, and another tea party has been provided by the Martha Group of the United Church of Minden. The ladies who served the tea party were Bea Berry, Annie Kernohan, Lorraine King, Maude Coulter and Elva Deacon. To liven up the party Elva Deacon played many old songs, so we could all join in. We spent an enjoyable afternoon, and thank the ladies of the Martha Group sincerely.

Thursday evening Marge Prentice and Shirley Howe came to call bingo for us. We thank them and appreciate the ladies spending their time to help us spend ours.

Friday afternoon was Happy Hour again. The entertainment was by Bill Geddis — guitar and mandolin or piano, Lloyd Madil — guitar and Carmen Peters — electric guitar. The music was good, Doris played the piano when she wasn't doing other duties. At intermission the Residents Council presented Janke Thomas with a gift to thank her for her volunteer duties. Since Janke came to Minden about two years ago, she must return to her own country for awhile. Her husband and three children are still in her country. She hopes they will all be able to come back to Canada in April. Volunteers for Happy Hour were Mary Guillemn, Cathy Gartshore and Janke Thomas. They are sincerely thanked.

Friday evening was very enjoyable because Bill Payne, Charlie Hadley and Don Burch were here in the main lounge to play music and sing for which we thank them.

The Sunday Chapel service was conducted by Rev. John Burgess and Alice Jones was playing the organ. Everyone was happy with the service and thank them very much.

Monday Residents Council met in the auditorium. The attendance was encouraging. We were pleased to have Rheta Jones, Administrator with us to acquaint us with what has been done, and what is in process of being done for improvement of Hyland Crest. We do appreciate Rheta coming to our meeting. The meeting was very rewarding. In the evening Dorothy Hunter showed the movies to us. They were "The Country Doctor" and "Habitat". We enjoyed them very much, thank you Dorothy.

Tuesday Silverts Company who sell hospital Resident apparel were in the auditorium. We went to the auditorium where their staff helped us to select articles to suit the residents. It is handy for many of the residents.

Wednesday afternoon Doris took us for a bus ride, down Deep Bay Road to Moore Falls on Hwy. 35. We went via 35 north to Kawartha Dairy for our usual ice cream cone. From there we went up to the Look Out for a good view of the area around Minden and then home.

We are sorry to hear Myrtle O'Halloran is in Minden Hospital. We hope she will soon be well again.

Our sympathy goes out to Dorrie McAllister on the passing of her mother this week.

Wednesday evening Pastor Murray held a service in the main lounge and the Residents thank him and his helper very much.

Poppies a reminder of military sacrifice

The 1990 Poppy-Remembrance Campaign will officially begin during the last week of October in cities, towns and villages across Canada.

The campaign is organized and conducted by The Royal Canadian Legion. Its purpose is to remind Canadians of the sacrifice made by the 114,000 men and women who gave their lives in the military service of Canada during two world wars and the Korean conflict.

Last year over 14,500,000 poppies were distributed in Canada. Contributions received during the campaign are used to promote the health and well-being of veterans, ex-service members and their dependents who are in need of assistance. Funds not used for this purpose may be spent on community assistance programs, such as the purchase of medical appliances and research, disaster relief and accommodation and care facilities for needy, elderly and disabled persons. In 1989 some $5.9 million was distributed in accordance with the General Bylaws of The Royal Canadian Legion.

Hnatyshyn, Governor General of Canada, will receive the first poppy of this year's campaign at a ceremony in Ottawa, at the Rideau Veterans Home, on October 23.

Soyer's Lake ratepayers reminded to upgrade old septic systems

The Fall Meeting of the Soyers Lake Ratepayers' Association was held on the evening of Saturday, October 6 at the PineStone Inn. Lew McCorriston chaired the meeting and welcomed the 40 members attending. He explained that he had been persuaded to carry on as President for another year with Lynda Campbell assisting as Vice-president.

Memorials

A moment's silence was observed in memory of Trevor Cooper, a long-time resident of Blairhampton Road, who passed away on August 27.

Committee reports

Neale Harris presented the Treasurer's report. Corn Roast committee chairman Lynda Campbell reported that a manual had been prepared to assist future organizers of this event. Regatta organizer David Pengelly had also prepared a comprehensive manual and expressed hopes for an enlarged regatta with many categories next year. For Neighbourhood Watch, Bruce Birrell reported that some construction materials had been taken from a Poverty Bay site. As Publicity Person he also reported that "Echo" reporters were invited to the corn roast and published several pictures. Directory and Lake Map chairman David Pengelly advised that the current listing includes 150 residences on Soyers Lake.

Pollution Control chairman Ross Partidge was absent due to illness but it was reported that volunteers had carried on with the water testing program throughout the summer. An article published in "County Life" on June 13th was mentioned, describing Ross's work on the loon survey for the Long Point Bird Observatory. Members were reminded of the need to upgrade old septic systems to avoid pollution of the lake.

Discussion

Topics discussed included the continuing delay in obtaining official approval of Minden's zoning by-law No. 86-26, the progress of a group application by 13 Poverty Bay residents to acquire their 66' lakeshore road allowances, hopes that the new Ontario government would honour their election pledge to provide 18 chronic care beds for Haliburton Hospital, the proposed rezoning of three lots on Soyers Lake, the difficulty of enforcing anti-noise by-laws, and possible insurance coverage for Association activities such as the Corn Roast.

Echo Bay

At the request of Ormonde and Marion Kentner, owners of the former Echo Bay Camp for Girls, a resolution was passed that the historic designation "Echo Bay" be incorporated in the next edition of the lake map.

Dorset acid rain report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of October 7 to October 13.

October 7, 7 mm rain, 4.0 pH, from northern Ontario.

October 8, 13 mm rain, 4.9 pH, from northwestern Quebec.

October 9, 13 mm rain, 4.8 pH, from central Quebec.

October 10, 12 mm rain, 4.3 pH, from eastern Ontario, western Pennsylvania, western Virginia.

October 12, 6 mm rain,

4.8 pH, from southern Ontario, Ohio and southern Michigan.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Let's get together.

Whatever your group wants to discuss, we're ready to join in.

We can discuss a broad range of topics, from how we turn PCBs into salt, to electricity savings, to energy options facing our community.

Haliburton Artist's Variety show will HAVE special meaning

H.A.V.E. (Help A Village Effort) is a small charity operating on the grass roots level out of Haliburton County. Since 1983 it has concentrated on water-related, health, and educational projects in India, Nicaragua, and the Gambia. They have to date drilled 85 wells, constructed a water pipeline in the Himalayan Foothills, and a rural health clinic in the Hyderabad area of India.

H.A.V.E.'s mandate is to help the poorest of the poor in the third world. In all cases, we have had on-site inspection by project officers who have travelled at their own expense. H.A.V.E. is recognized as a charity by the government of Canada and all donations are thus tax deductible. We are also registered with the Canadian International Development Agency as a non-governmental organization and receive matching funding on selected projects up to 3 to 1 basis. Apart from C.I.D.A., H.A.V.E.'s funding relies on three major sources: donations by individuals, an annual "Walk for Water" held each June, and a fall Haliburton Artist's Variety evening.

This variety evening will take place on Saturday, November 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School auditorium. The concerts will feature local musicians and groups - "Special Friends" with Dianne Hagerman and Janice Benoit; "Harmony", a six voice group sharing songs of faith and inspiration; Gord Kidd and Karen Davey; Edwar Moll; and other special guests.

Any donations raised during the course of the concert will be going toward upgrading primary one (first year) education in the Gambia, a small country in West Africa. The Gambia is one of the poorest countries in the world. At present, most Gambian children advance to the higher grades with little knowledge of written English, their national language, and remain for the most part illiterate. A retired Haliburton teacher, Clarence McInerney, has given generously of his own time and money to improve the profoundly inadequate educational infrastructure in the Gambia. Money raised for the Gambia will go primarily for basic school supplies and teacher training. As in the past, Clarence will be going to the Gambia this fall, at his own expense, in order to oversee this project and ensure that all funds are put to the best use.

H.A.V.E. members meet once each month to discuss new projects and review the progress of ongoing ones. All members are volunteers who serve without reimbursement and the only administrative costs involve the services of an accountant to provide the required annual audits. As C.I.D.A. provides funds for administrative expenses we can guarantee that 100% of all our funds raised are spent overseas on projects.

We are always looking for new members who share our belief in world unity and the family of humanity, and who are willing to translate this belief into action.

For some, influenza can be a life-threatening illness

The annual bout with the "flu" that plagues so many Canadians each winter can be much more than just a nuisance that makes you feel miserable for a few days. It can kill you.

In the past some of the most notorious influenza outbreaks had names like the Spanish flu (1918), the Asian flu (1957) and the Russian flu (1977). The Spanish flu was devastating. It left 21 million dead in its wake. This year the Shanghai flu is expected to be the main culprit.

Every year in Canada, thousands of people die of influenza or what we commonly call the flu and thousands more suffer very serious, life-threatening illness.

This represents the very worst kind of human suffering.

Minden Women's Institute learns about Gambia

by Jeanne Sears

The October 17 meeting of Minden W.I. was in the Lounge of the Staunworth Terrace where 17 members and 3 guests were made welcome and having Roll Call of places to visit with most popular being Australia.

Plans were made for Victoria East District Tea October 18 and also for our 'Tea' day at Hyland Crest. It was decided that manuals will be purchased at Leaders' Course on Bread Making, those going being Dorothea Lynch and Jean Lacey. Our delegate to Area Convention is Jean Lacey and we voted on Resolutions to be presented there. Collections were taken for Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship. Mrs. W. Moore reported sending 16 cards since last meeting. Happy Birthday was sung by all and a smart gift went to her as she is soon leaving our village.

Mrs. Loyne Cox then introduced her speaker, Jean McInerney. She very capably showed and explained slides on Gambia and had articles and clothing of interest for us to examine, and also answered questions as we went along.

Mary Cox then presented her with a gift and we showed our appreciation in our applause.

This Branch also appreciates the Canadian Flag given us by Evelyn Cox and we gave her a vote of thanks.

The meeting then adjourned and a social time followed with lunch served by the four resident members.

Flu vaccine recommended for high-risk people

ing and death - that which is preventable. The National Advisory Committee on Immunization (NACI) states that "influenza vaccine is the single most effective way of preventing or attenuating influenza and has long been recommended for those at high-risk of serious illness or death". But NACI also recognizes "that only about 30% of this population (those at greatest risk) receive the vaccine annually."

Anyone can get the flu and even for normal healthy people it can be severe enough. It usually keeps people in bed for several days in an extremely weakened condition with weakness and fatigue lingering for several weeks afterwards. Unfortunately, this also leaves a person susceptible to many other winter infections until their strength returns. Classic flu symptoms include a bad cough, fever, chills, aches and pains, weakness and loss of appetite.

People in high-risk groups are in greater danger of suffering very severe, life-threatening illness from the flu. These people include everyone over the age of 65 and anyone with chronic medical conditions such as heart, lung or kidney disease or metabolic disorders such as diabetes. Residents of nursing homes or chronic care facilities usually fall into one or more of these high-risk categories and are at additional risk because their institutional environment may promote the spread of the disease.

Influenza is an extremely contagious respirator disease which spreads across the country in epidemic force every winter. Up to 30% of the population may contract flu each year. Although other viruses like the common cold cause similar symptoms, true influenza can be life-threatening. The real danger with flu is the complications that can arise when the body's resistance is weakened. Bacterial pneumonia is the most common complication and is particularly dangerous in the elderly. Viral pneumonia, kidney failure and nervous system disorders can prove fatal as well.

Influenza can be prevented. Flu vaccine provides a safe and effective method of protecting those at greatest risk. But influenza vaccine can't protect those who don't receive it. Medical experts suggest that influenza will continue to claim lives unnecessarily unless efforts to increase public awareness about the dangers of influenza and the benefits of flu vaccine are dramatically increased. The message is simple - if you want to avoid the flu this year then a visit to the doctor in September or October for an annual flu vaccination is the way to play it safe. If you or someone you know is over 65 or has a chronic medical condition, consider a flu shot. It could save your life.

News from the Trent Severn Waterway

The reservoir lakes were at 43.5 per cent of their full capacity on October 1, which means if you are on a lake with 1.2 metres of available storage, the level would have declined approximately 70 centimetres or about 2 1/2 feet since the spring. Minimum flows have been maintained in the tributary rivers to the main system.

Discharges along most of the Waterway are expected to increase in the coming weeks as dams are set for the winter season. Water levels will likely drop only a few more centimetres before stabilizing for the fall.

This Week On T.V.

The listings are supplied by the T.V. stations. While every effort is made to ensure their accuracy, last minute changes may be made by the stations.

Camp Kirk a Lions Club venture to help the learning disabled

On Sunday, September 16, Lions Clubs International, District A-16 held a sod-turning ceremony to officially launch "Lions Clubs Camp Kirk". The ceremony took place at 1:00 p.m. on the camp property located on the north side of Highway 48, immediately adjacent to the eastern end of the Village of Kirkfield.

The purpose of Lions Clubs Camp Kirk is to provide children with learning disabilities between the ages of 8 to 12, with the opportunity to experience camp life in order to develop skills in a recreational setting and thereby raise their self-esteem. Campers who come to Lions Clubs Camp Kirk will have been identified as persons eligible to attend through the school system or in some other appropriate manner. When completed the camp will accommodate each summer, 80-100 children who have learning disabilities.

Lions Clubs International, District A-16 is composed of 50 Lions Clubs, 18 Lioness Clubs and 1 Leo Club located in York Region, Durham Region and the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton.

The ceremonies were presided over by Lions Clubs

Camp Kirk committee chairman, Past District Governor Lion Stan Durward. Also in attendance were; the District Governor of District A-16, Lion Clare Greenfield from Richvale, Ontario, the Council Chairman of Lions Clubs International, Multiple District "A" (Ontario and Quebec) Lion Harold Harrison from Mount Albert, Ontario.

The International Director for Canada of Lions Clubs International Lion Gil Constantini from Peterborough, Ont. Lion Gil Constantini delivered the dedication address.

The Reeve of Eldon Township, County of Victoria Lion Wayne Teel.

Joining with above mentioned dignitaries were approximately 100 Lions and Lioness from District A-16 Clubs.

The Lions Clubs of District A-16 have committed themselves to raising approximately $500,000.00 to complete the facility.

Lions Club Camp Kirk is due to open in the spring of 1992.

Minden Lionesses host District A-16 dinner of the year

Greetings from the Minden Lioness Club and thanks for your support.

October 11 was presentation day for the cheques to the Minden Hospital. Later with Lion Hugh McIntyre as chef and our Lioness President Janet Readman at the helm, we had the honour of hosting the first District A 16 Lioness Dinner of the year. There were approximately 105 in attendance, with 15 of the 18 clubs represented. These were Ajax, Blackstock, Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Claremont, Keswick, Minden, Newmarket, Omeme, Pefferlaw, Richvale, Stouffville, Unionville, Whitby and the newest Goodwood, whose certification night is November 2. Others are Aurora, North Oshawa and Oshawa Central.

Other Lions and Lioness helped prepare food, baking, decorating, setup of tables, loan of equipment, donation of door prizes, serving and the Pathfinder girls cleared away the dishes.

Our visitors seemed to have an enjoyable evening.

District President Chris Cliff, Blackstock presided. Guest Dave Gascoigne showed a video on Sight First, the International goal of eradication of preventable blindness world wide. A report on the progress of Camp Kirk was given by Lion Stan Durward. Our District Project for this year will be the War Amps CHAMPS program.

Our Lions Club will be celebrating their 5th Anniversary on November 10 with dinner and dance. Soon Lioness will be selling Christmas ornaments. We also will be helping with Santa Claus Parade and Christmas cakes.

If anyone is interested in learning more of the Lioness Club, feel free to contact any Lioness or call me, Lorna at 286-1658, or Janet 1-645-4824.

Directors re-elected to Soyer's Lake association ton on September 28. He noted that of the 40 or so people in the hall, half were government representatives and six of the remaining 20 were from Soyers Lake.

Those taking part included Bill Brown, Chairman of the recently-formed Trent-Severn Reservoir Lakes Council, Dysart Reeve Bill Davis, two speakers from the Ministry of Natural Resources, and John Lewis, Manager of Parks Canada Service which operates the Trent-Severn waterway.

John Lewis pointed out that under the 1905 charter, the Trent-Severn authority must maintain six feet of water for shipping in the canal system by drawing down water from the reservoir lakes, regardless of the greatly increased use of those lakes over the intervening years. He suggested that if owners of lake property were not satisfied with the status quo, they should seek legislative changes in Ottawa.

One of the bureaucrats commented on the sparse attendance at the meeting, to which a ratepayer replied that if the meeting had been held at a weekend prior to Labour Day the hall would have been filled to capacity with concerned ratepayers.

Ratepayers' Association

The President reported on recent meetings of representatives of lake associations in Minden township concerned with presenting a common front in dealings with Council. It was pointed out that the potential vote from Lakeshore residents would be more than sufficient to bring in candidates of their choice who would be more sympathetic to their concerns than some members of previous Councils. Association members were urged to consider possible candidates.

Election of Directors

Directors re-elected for a further two-year term were Victor Ettel, Burt Tait, Bruce Birrell, David Pengelly, John Thorne, Lynda Campbell and Primrose Birrell.

Proposed newsletter

David Pengelly was authorized to draft an Association newsletter in co-operation with Publicity Person Bruce Birrell.

Spring meeting

It was resolved that a Spring Meeting be held on Saturday, May 18, 1991 at 7:30 p.m. It was agreed that a guest speaker should be invited to talk about the reclamation of natural shorelines. The possibility of holding one meeting per year during the summer will be discussed at the spring meeting.
